This book I consider one of my "bibles" for early chow research and still one of the best written. The images in my 3 copies were starting to show a bit of fading so I decided to scan each at a very high resolution and bring them back to their full glory. A must have book for any collector

THE CHOW-CHOW, by Lady Dunbar, of Mochrum. Published by the MacMillan Co., New York City. 88 Pps. 23 Illus. Price $.80.

During the past few years the chow-chow dog has been attracting considerable attention and has become a familiar sight in every city. His aristocratic appearance has won for him many friends. Lady Dunbar, of Mochrum, has become particularly interested in this breed of dogs and has prepared a most complete book touching all matters connected with them. She is partial to the blue chow-chow, and states that this variety is the most highly prized in Manchuria, where the type originated. She goes into considerable detail regarding their proper management, and treats quite exhaustively of the various diseases to which they are subject. Those interested in the chow-chow will do well to read this interesting and valuable little book.
