THE MONTH FOR CHOW LOVERS

My Noble Spouse at Atlanta

AT THE Atlanta show I had the extreme pleasure of being on the outside looking in at my noble spouse, who struggled manfully to deliver a good job of judging Chows. I was in a benign and beneficent mood, (now, alas, growing all too rare) for there he stood, delivered unto mine own hand and gift of gab, and not a chance to evade the aftermath. There were not so many Chows present and I feel that these Atlanta people deserve much better support from our fanciers. Not only do they put on a good show but they are so very hospitable and courteous and they truly are Chow crazy—eager to see the best specimens and to get some real ones down there. It was remarked to me that the breeders are neglecting a real opportunity in Atlanta and I fully agree. The story went around that a Southerner who had supported the show before, refused to enter under my husband on account of something I had said in Dog News, so he must be under the impression that Bill is writing this hash. I wish to remove the mantle of shame from his shoulders with one sweep and trust that he will not again be penalized, for I alone am guilty. Evidently the Freedom of The Press is not desired in dog circles, but I am sick of all this Yessing everything that wears Chow fur.

There was a very nice puppy class, won by Sam Nee Toi Jr. of Fan Shu, eventually Winners Dog and Best of Breed; owned by O. Prince Ayers of Savannah, a real enthusiast and sport. He is getting together some nice Chows. The above dog is nice and cobby with good bone, full of type with a very pleasing head. A lovely red in color. This puppy could do with a good long run every day as he is a bit sloppy behind. The Winners bitch, Frankmar's Luckee Loo, is a typey one of grand color and is owned by Mrs. Louise Himmel, an ardent Chow fancier. Reserve to a nice puppy in Mr. Ayer's Rouge of Fan Shu. There was an exceedingly good black puppy in Gloria Dawn, owned by Mrs. Eugene Middlebrooks, which I thought a bit unlucky (Ahem! she said, delicately clearing her throat!) I also would have changed Reserve Winners dogs—but why bring dat up? Even the glorious bonds of matrimony cannot make two people see Chows alike. Hope I have not stepped on any corns or bunions this time. I asked our little girl what she thought of her daddy's judging and she told me he was not judging the dogs, he was just looking them over. So, there you are.

Miss Ely Buys Chow in China

A card from Miss Henrietta Ely of Paris, arrived from Kobe, Japan, stating that she had picked up a very typey baby Chow on her travels—on West River beyond Canton, to be exact. She fears the long trip may be hard on him, but I hope he makes the grade, and would certainly love to see him.

Moosilauke to be Dispersed

Mrs. W. S. Baer writes me the bad news that almost the entire collection of famous Moosilauke dogs will have to be dispersed. It does seem to me that our breed receives some terrible wallops, just when it is making tremendous progress. When you think of dogs of the Moosilauke caliber being dispersed at sacrifice prices it is a bit too much. Here is a kennel that has positively leaped into fame and made history in a few years. Such consistent production of bone and substance has I believe not been equalled in this country.

'Tis False!

It is not true that we are to sell out our kennel as the four Penneys would be utterly lost without Chows. We intend to keep about twenty of the middle aged and the antiques, while the young fellers can grab off a new home—maybe. The response this paper has had in the last few months from the fanciers is a wonderful tribute to the fascination of the Chow

King needs no introduction to the fancy of America. This snap-shot was taken just a week ago and was unposed. A man's foot was blocked off the lower right hand corner of the picture but the dog is absolutely untouched.

Puppy Food Formula

A splendid Formula for weaning puppies or for raising motherless ones, is Mellins Food Formula No. 2. Add two beaten yolks of egg and one tablespoon Liquid Peptonoids. Shake well before using. Add bran and shredded wheat when using this one. Formula No. 1 is

O. K. for anything under three weeks. If using No. 2, feed also raw meat and bran twice a day, moistened with a bit of hot water or broth, and seasoned with a pinch of salt.

Mollie of Ting Hao Dead

Dr. Adams in the last Dog News says that none of us should call our own dog perfect, but I am going to take my own exception. Some years ago I bought from J. T. Hartwell the black English bitch, Mollie of Ting Hao, by Ch. Pusa of Amwell ex Elizabeth. She died the other day and while I have loved and lost many other dogs during 25 years, I have never grieved for a more perfect DOG in all that length of time. After all, it's only the thing in a dog which suits you, that counts—same in garments, horses, stockings or cows, I guess. This bitch landed in America ill, upside down, nearly dead with homesickness. Most people would take to a hospital or a grave, under the circumstances, but not Mollie. She clenched her jaws and fought it out to a stand-still, within a month. She was always that way. Game, obedient to an unheard of degree, patient, loyal and abounding with affection. I have seen Mollie made so unhappy by some of the people around me, that she was in terror, yet she would run from the third floor downstairs to me, thirty times in an evening, just to be near me for five minutes. When she was happy and content, she was as calm as a welcoming hostess for years on end, and that is the manner in which most people knew her. She had the keenest hunting scent of any Chow I have owned, excepting Chow Mein, who also had the most foot. Mollie stamped herself indelibly on her produce, and her own disposition was faithfully transmitted to all her children. This Mollie was what I call a perfect dog.

THE CHOW AS A COMPANION DOG

By HESTER E. HOLLAND,
Pekin, Ill.

It has always seemed rather strange to me that the Chow fanciers so seldom mention the Chow's many desirable traits as a companion for children, or grown-ups—as a watchdog and as a pet in the home. Really, few dogs are as adaptable as a Chow. They seldom destroy anything about the house; they are house-broken by the time they are out of the nest and their lack of doggy odor makes them simply perfect about the home.

It is perfectly possible to bring a Chow puppy into a home away from the mother and the rest of the litter—and will he cry and howl all night? Never! He will curl up and go to sleep without a whimper. Our Chows have always had the run of the entire house and never once has anything been destroyed. Buster has played with one soft slipper ever since he came to us at the age of four months, and today there isn't a tear in it, and he never touches any slippers about the house except his own.

I could just go on for pages and pages telling you all the nice things about a Chow that never appear in the magazines. Many people think they are just for the bench show, to be admired but not to be touched or played with, and how wrong they are! Buster is just as eager for his game of ball as our Boston ever was, and when we say "that's all" he doesn't tease for more.

CALIFORNIA CHOW NEWS

By ALICE SCOTT

THE Chow Holly Kennels of North Hollywood, Calif., are the proud possessors of a new stud dog, fourteen months old, bought recently of Wauchow Kennels, named Pal of Wauchow, by Chino Chunky Boy ex Ch. Ki Ki of Wauchow. This young one weighs about sixty pounds—a beautiful red—small ear—dark eye, and a well balanced dog. No doubt he will soon be on his way to his championship.

They also have a new importation, two years old, called Ne Pho Tos of Chow Holly, out of Ch. Hilda Well Be Tang by Ch. Omar Tower of Darkness, who has a challenge certificate to his credit.

While in Chicago recently, Mrs. Lohman purchased two bitch puppies from Mrs. Crawford, they being double Brilliantine strain. She expects to show them as soon as they are old enough.

The Los Angeles summer show will be held at the Ambassador Hotel on May 30-31. We understand that Mrs. Reidel, of New York, will do our breed. Next comes the all-breed show at Santa Barbara in July, with Mrs. C. H. Jackson Jr. at the helm—the one show that no one can afford to miss. Plenty of room—plenty of fresh air—and the show over by 6:30 each day. What more can one ask—not saying anything about wonderful trophies as well as good judges. Next, Long Beach Show in August, details to be announced later.

Ventura Boulevard is certainly doggy row. Another Chow breeder has opened up kennels there. Mrs. Bebout, of Monrovia, now has a branch on the boulevard, and all seem to be doing a thriving business. At the present time there are four Chow kennels, two all-breed kennels, several Peke kennels, as well as kennels of Bostons, Danes, Cocker Spaniels, Wires, Dashchunds, and Scottish Terriers.

We are all sorry to hear that Mr. Davis, of Banning, Calif., is going out of Chows.

Miss Gladys Bennett, of San Francisco, is expecting a litter from the mating of her fine bitch, Kung Chu, to Mrs. Herbert Avery's young dog, Fong Wah. Kung Chu is a daughter of Ch. Yuan Chu of El Cher, and Fong a grandson. With this combination, it should be something fine.

We understand that A. Rother, of Santa Cruz, has a very promising young bitch that he expects to do a lot of winning with soon. Good luck, Mr. Rother!

Miss Lohman is sending her dog, Sen Ngo, with Chris Shuttleworth on his tour of the Canadian circuit, following the Oakland show. Mrs. Marra is making the circuit also.

Mrs. Herbert Avery, of Oakland, has purchased a very promising puppy from Mrs. Marra—cut appears in this issue. They have named him De Lamar Tai Yen II. He was born December 3, 1930—A. K. C. No. 776209, by Ching Ting Kiohy ex. De Lamar Wonk. This sire is an imported English dog, sired by Ch. Akbar, and De Lamar Wonk was sired by Int. Ch. Brilliantine. Another feature of this breeding is that there is included the famous Pusa of Amwell—Ch. Pickles that breeders are so much interested in.

We on the Coast are glad to learn that W. O. Penney has received his judge's license, and hope that we will have the honor of seeing him judge on the western coast before long.

Mrs. A. E. Schell has a very fine litter from her good male, Ufong Sing Prince Lin, and her good female Toots. This litter is being watched with great interest, as previous matings of this pair have produced some very fine specimens.

THE BROOD MATRON

By EDITH L. DIETRICH, Northbrook, Ill.
Written especially for the Dog News.

An old and ever new subject is a beloved theme and "The Brood Matron" is certainly just such a subject.

I do not believe that the breeders of today are paying enough attention to the mother of the puppies they are breeding—to her type; her blood lines; her health, and her vitality. And this is really absolutely necessary if you are to produce a uniformly high standard of young.

GLENN COVE'S BLUE BIRD

Anybody who contemplates breeding is pretty sure to be vitally interested in the selection of the sire, but all too often they totally ignore the type, the blood lines and the condition of the matron who is to bear the young.

Why do we see so many litters today containing a couple of very nice youngsters and the balance grading off from bad to worse? When you consider that the dam contributes as much to the offspring as the sire, it is no difficult mathematical problem to figure out just what is wrong. If the sire and dam were of equal breeding and type, could you not expect a litter at least moderately even as to quality? It is surely the birthright of these Chow babies to have as good blood on one side of the house as on the other.

When selling dogs, the males usually bring a higher price than the females. I think this is just the opposite of what should be the case. Not only should a good female command as high a price as a male of equal quality—she should command one much higher. If we practised a system whereby we rated our bitches as carefully as we do our dogs, we should soon rise to a very high standard of perfection and soon see the Whippet type female vanish.

The idea that only the long-backed bitch makes a good brood matron is erroneous and false. Some of our finest brood matrons have been short-backed, blocky and large-ribbed in type, but, unfortunately, this type is all too rare today, even in the show-ring. It is high time something was done to bring back some of the old time demand for really high-class bitches.

Due to the depressed financial condition our country has been passing through, many owners have bred just any sort of bitch, in a most helter-skelter fashion, probably with the idea of adding to their badly depleted bank accounts. The result of this wholesale breeding is that the country has been flooded with second and third rate puppies, swamping pet shops. Most of these low-priced puppies were ill-nourished, rickety and of most haphazard breeding. Unfortunately, many of them will grow up and be bred and it should be of primary interest to establish breeders to discourage owners from breeding these poorly developed, badly-bred Chows. It may mean turning down a stud fee but in the long run, not only our breed, but you personally, will reap the benefit.

Sunny Too and Littleist Baby

Mrs. Baribeau accepted this invitation and it was due to the wording of this letter, which specifically stated, "Crufts in February, 1931," that the misunderstanding arose, whereby notices were sent to all the American Dog publications announcing Mrs. Baribeau as the judge for the Annual Crufts fixture.

Judge Hartwell officiated at the Crufts All Breed show for Chows and Mrs. Baribeau judged for the Specialty Show of the British Chow Chow Club, which was held the following day at the same place.

Chow News

Mrs. J. L. Fleming, of Wickliffe, O., has recently purchased a dark red puppy sired by Ch. Inkee Tong Min T'sing out of Tuthy's Choice of El-Cher. This pup was the pick of the litter, and at three months old, he looks most promising.

Mrs. Fleming writes that business is undoubtedly picking up. In the past two weeks she has shipped four puppies, all at very good prices. A nice bitch went to Mr. Dick, of Creighton, Pa.; two were shipped to Buffalo, and a splendid dog was sold to H. Smith, of Charleston, W. Va. Smith has quite a nice little kennel, numbering four or five Chows, the majority of which have come from Mrs. Fleming.

Far Lands Kennels certainly should have some splendid puppies shortly, for Mac advises that the following bitches have been bred:

Ch. Red Rosa to Ch. Son Too; Buttercup, the dam of Red Rosa, to Ch. Crimson Pao; Black Lynx, the Penn-Jersey Futurity Winner by Crimson Pao, to Ch. Son Too; Far Land Chu Chu, the dam of Far Land Twinkle, the New York Futurity Winner, is also heavy in whelp.

The Elscliff Chow Kennels, of Cincinnati, report that Crimson Rambler, that great bitch who is the dam of Ch. Crimson Pao, the grand-dam of Ch. Red Rosa, and who has at least a dozen champions among her progeny, will be bred to Gleam of Clairedale, this week. Some splendid puppies certainly should result from this mating.

Elscliff sold a very promising puppy by Tang of Clairedale, a son of Gleam out of Princess Osaka, to Loraine Eng-hauser, of Cincinnati.

Frances H. Schuler, of Eldorado, Ill., reports that the black male puppy which she sold to the Rev. Belanger was stolen from his home at Algonac, Mich., during the time the minister was at prayer meeting. Dr. Belanger is broken hearted over his loss, and if anybody hears of a six-months old black Chow that seems to have a mystery surrounding its ownership, it might be well to get in touch with Dr. Belanger.

Crimson Lion

Owned by Mrs. John C. Hipkins, Mount Clair, N. J.
A very handsome son of Crimson King—a litter brother to Ch. Red Rosa—out of Long Acres Geisha. A full study of this dog shows a beautiful compact body, good heavy bone, fine front and wonderful coat.

Ch. Nee Phos has made one of the most enviable records in Showdom. He has been Best of Breed in fifteen recent shows.

At stud to approved females—$75.00

Chow News—Cont'd

Louise C. Seamer is surely deserving of congratulations on her wins at the Twin City Kennel Club Show at Minneapolis—her wire, as follows, received just as we were going to press:

"Champion Yang Fu Tang shown for Specials only; Best of Breed, Best Non-Sporting and Best in Show. Winners Dog, Yungmanchu Shang, which finished his championship. Clicquot, First Limit, Idol, First American and Reserve Winners, Racketeer, Second American. Last three are home bred. Chino Sunburst, Winners Bitch, Yang Fu Cuddles, First American."—Louise C. Seamer.

Margaret E. Kosko, of Fargo, N. D., writes that the people in North Dakota are really crazy about Chows and that the demand is much greater than the supply for good puppies.

Mrs. Kosko owns Princess Tansesse, who is a grand-daughter of Ch. Hong Kong King and of Ch. Red Chinaman. Her picture looks splendid, and we hope to show this North Dakota Chow to our readers soon.

My Sonny Boy of Ginger Hill, belonging to Edna G. Davies, of Canonsburg, Pa., was Best of Winners and Best of Breed at the Washington, Pa. show, which, I believe, completes his championship. We hope to have a picture of My Sonny Boy for the next issue. Mrs. Davies has recently sold three splendid bitches, and a very outstanding stud, Chum Ti of Ginger Hill.

Eleanor Storm, of Sanborn, Iowa, writes that there is considerable activity in Chows in her section. She has quite a good sized kennel, with a number of blacks, which seem to be her favorites.

Hanford's Black Beauty is her black stud, and "Jet," as he is known around the kennels, has been siring some lovely little black "Chinkies."

The A. K. C. has revoked Miss Frances Schuler's license to judge. No explanation of the action was given.

Mrs. Marra Selling Young Stock

Mrs. Waldo J. Marra, of Belmont, Calif., visited George L. Ratcliffe's Kennels at Portland, Me., while down East, recently. She quite fell in love with Ch. Wendi Loo Sunleigh, and as a consequence has shipped two bitches to be bred to him—a long trip from Belmont, Calif., to Portland, Me. Mrs. Marra says:

"I feel that if I could get a Chow as big and as good as Wendi, I would have done my bit in the Chow game."

The City Ordinance at Belmont, which prohibits one from keeping more than a very few mature dogs in a kennel in the city limits, forces Mrs. Marra to sell some very excellent young stock—here's a chance for someone to pick up a good show specimen or some foundation stock of excellent blood lines.

Dr. J. Leonard Widman, of the Wondrous Red Kennels, Teaneck, N. J., writes has been unable to be active around the that due to his professional activities he shows recently.

CHUM MEE OF X-QUIZ-IT

Bred by X-Quiz-It Kennels and now owned by Roger Fowler of Hollywood. This young dog, eighteen months old, is a son of Ch. Buddah—dam, See Mee of X-Quiz-It.

I never imagined there were so many Chow pictures in the world—and this wasn't all of them. I just had to hold some over, but you'll be seeing them in the next issue.—A. R.
