ChowTales has a new favicon....you will find this little guy in your tabs on the computer

ChowTales.com has now become much faster as well, thanks to my husband Steve for his expertise!

ANNOUNCEMENT - Updates to the ChowTales Archive website

A BIG SHOUTOUT TO MY HUSBAND.....As the ChowTales History Archive website keeps filling up with history and content....the site needs occasional tweeking, upgrades, and fine tuning. Thank you so much to my hubby Steven Miller for making sure all of this valuable content stays safe and secure for future generations!

The little chow favicon is a nice touch to make spotting the site easier in your TABS. Steve has been working hard getting the site upgraded and running super fast to make photos and searches load speedier than ever

Stop by and check it out <https://chowtales.com>
