

1917 TIME CAPSULE – CH. LORD CHOLMONDELEY

LORD CHOLMONDELEY II

♂ Breed: Chow-chow Born: 05/01/1917 Color: RED

Lord Cholmondeley II

Owner: JOHN Z. ADAMS Breeder: JOHN Z. ADAMS-ADAMSTON CHOWS Contacts: Chumley

One of the top sires and winners of the early 1920's and in a majority of USA pedigrees today. Reported to be 52 lbs and a very balanced and correct chow, well admired by the breeders and judges of the day.

CH.DINKIE OF NEWLANDS ♂ 03/16/1912 Black Breeder Mrs. Scaramanga born in London England Owner Greenacre Kennels	CHIN LU OF NEWLANDS Red Born 1904	ENG.CH. RED CRAZE Born 1901 United Kingdom Breeder Mr Sawtell Owner Mrs. Scaramanga
		ZARA YOK
	MARY ANN	ACE OF SPADES (?)
		FIFI (?)
UNKNOWN bred by Mrs Proctor ♀

Mrs. John Z. Adams with Ch. Lord Cholmondeley II, one of the best chows in the United States

MRS. ADAMS ABOVE PICTURED WITH "CHUMLEY" IN 1919
COUNTRY LIFE MAGAZINE

STUD RULES OF THE ADAMSTON KENNELS FOR 1920

Champion Lord Cholmondeley II

After March 1 will be at stud at $50.00 or second choice of litter, to bitches of any solid color.

Every bitch must be under seven years of age and if over four must have produced at least one litter.

Sun Nee of Newlands

Remaining until the acquisition of a third stud dog at the very reasonable fee of $25.00 or a puppy, to bitches of any solid color.

Every bitch to be under five years of age and if over four must have produced at least one litter.

Every bitch sent to either dog must be registered or eligible for registration and possessing no disqualifying points such as drop ears, red or brown nose in dark reds or blacks, etc.

Kindly tear this out and keep for future reference.

THE ADAMSTON KENNELS

137 Overlook St. Mount Vernon, N. Y.

Telephone 2458

THE STUD "RULES" FOR HIS LORDSHIP IN 1920

The Adamston Kennel's Ch. Lord Cholmondeley II has been returned to stud, where he will see less of the ring, except at the largest and most important of shows. Because of the great amount of stud work falling on him and Sun Nee of Newlands they are looking for a third stud dog. By fall these kennels will have moved to larger quarters, where there will be room for a few more dogs. Although the kennel building will be of good size there will only be six runs, but these will be six feet wide by seventy-five or one hundred feet long. That is because the Adamston Kennels do not care for size but want only a few of the best and those will be well cared for.

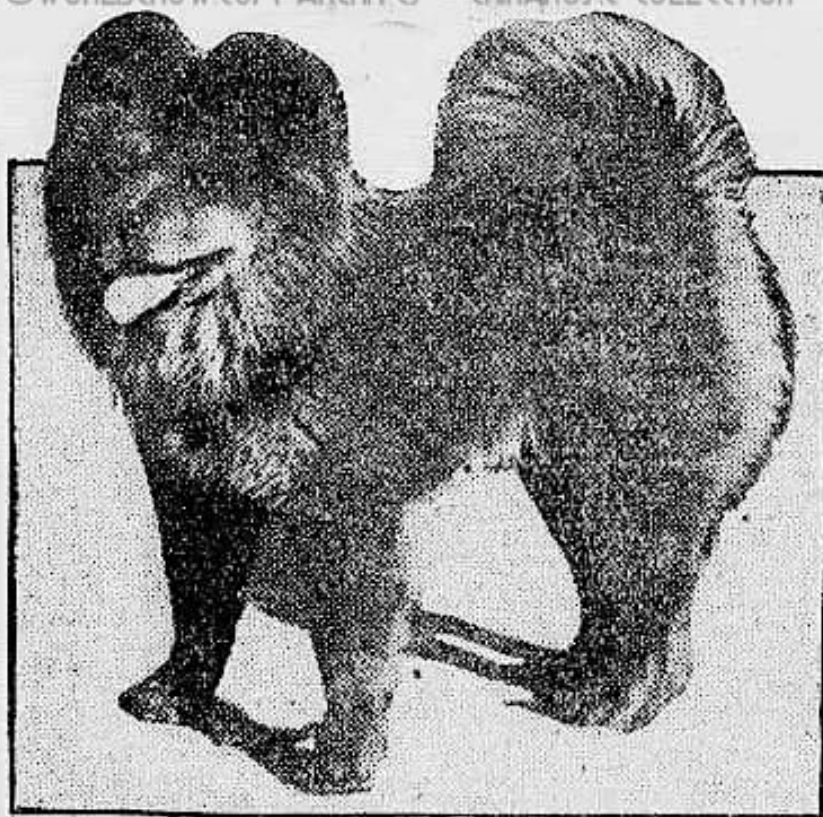

MRS. PROCTOR WITH CH. LORD
CHOLMONDELEY II IN 1922.

LORD CHOLMONDELEY IS PICTURED ON THE RIGHT

est sensation in Chowdom at the big A. K. C. shows. He was shown for the first time Oct. 4th at Danbury, Conn., and won the blue ribbon in each class. Next at the Bronx Kennel Club's big event on Oct 12th, when he forced eighteen other high class Chows to lower their colors, again winning in every class. He was next shown at the Hudson County show and as usual he cleaned up everything in sight, making the remarkable record of thirteen blue and nineteen special ribbons in twenty-one days. Lord Cholmondeley II is a magnificent great big bright red Chow, with a wonderful head, tremendous bone, heavy mane and coat, and has every point called for in the standard of the Chow Chow Club of America, and he weighs 52 pounds,

1917 ARTICLE EXCERPT TOUTING "CHUMLEY"
AS A YOUNG DOG EARLY IN HIS CAREER

©WORLDSHOW.COM ARCHIVES - CHINAPOSE COLLECTION

*✓ Mrs. John Z. Adams's ✓
Lord Cholmondeley II.*

A YOUNG LORD CHOLMONDELEY AT
THE 1918 CHOW NATIONAL SPECIALTY

Mrs. John Z. Adams was very successful with her chows at the late show of the Ladies' Kennel Club of Massachusetts, where she won best chow, best bitch, best non-sporting dog of all breeds, and best brood matron and her get, all breeds. Ch. Lord Cholmondeley II., in only fair coat, won with ease, but at the present time is shedding badly, so will not make a show appearance for some time to come. He has been receiving numerous matrons for service from Chicago, Detroit, Milwaukee and Cedar Rapids, Iowa, so it is safe to predict some keen competition at middle-west shows as soon as the puppies are old enough.

EXCERPT FROM 1920 MAGAZINE HIGHLIGHTING
CH. LORD CHOLMONDELEY II

WORLDWIDE FROM ARCHIVE - CHICAGO COLLECTION

ONE of the best dogs of the present day is Mrs. John Z. Adams's Ch. Lord Cholmondeley II, a youngster who, up to February, 1918, had never known defeat. He was first shown at the Danbury show in October, 1917, at that time an unknown dog. He was shown thereafter wherever possible, winning everything in sight, and when the Boston show was over in January, he had to his credit nineteen blue and twenty-six special ribbons, a trunk full of special trophies and cash prizes, and his championship title. Such a rapid rise to fame would be hard to find equalled in dogdom.

"Chumley," to abbreviate his name, possesses that elusive something which the dog-wise call quality. He is a red dog, with the ideal head, body, and coat, and his appearance is an indication of the virility of the stock. He is only four years old.

1919 ARTICLE BY WALTER A DYER DISCUSSING THE GREAT CH. LORD CHOLMONDELEY'S ATTRIBUTES

Among those who will be judging for the first time in a Garden show is John Z. Adams of Mount Vernon, who will distribute the ribbons for chow chows. Adams has long been a breeder and exhibitor of chows, among his best being Lord Cholmondeley, which went from puppies to winners at the Danbury Show and then advanced to its championship without encountering defeat.

1918 NEWSPAPER MENTION OF CH. LORD
CHOLMONDELEY'S UNDEFEATED SHOW RECORD

This video below features chows sired by the famous Chow Chow, Ch. Lord Cholmondeley (or "Chumley") that were registered in the 1922 AKC stud book. This is only one year...and many puppies never got registered. He was an incredibly prolific sire who produced not only quantity..but quality in his offspring.