

Mr. Chas. Edwards' Chow Chows, at 83, Whatley Ave., Merton Park, London, S.W.19

ON the occasion of a recent visit it was a pleasure to find at the above address a small but select kennel of blue Chows, all of which are as near as possible blue bred.

The head of the kennel is GARRY THE GUARD, which proved to be on examination a first-rate headed dog, with the true scowl, square deep muzzle, and straight front. Compact and has the ideal double coat so much desired, stands ideally, and action of the best. Appended is his extended pedigree, and those interested will promptly understand that at stud he should prove a valuable proposition, as our later remarks will prove.

PEDIGREE OF GARRY THE GUARD.

Sire: MOJI OF KANG SHI.

Ashvale Wu Ling	{ Chun
Sen Yan of Chuan Yan	{ The Shy Princess
	{ Wyndham's Tut Tut
	{ Wyndham's Tat

Dam: PRIDE OF TENDINGTON.

Blue Wangho	{ Blue Lion
Pax	{ Clapham Beauty
	{ Ch. The Great Smut
	{ Girlie

GARRY THE GUARD.

He stands at stud for the present at the nominal fee of £4 4s., at which Garry is likely to be in demand.

CYANTINA, a blue bitch, born September 6, 1926, a daughter of the aforementioned dog ex Blue Hwendi. Her make, shape, style, front, feet, and colour are all capital, and those on the look-out for a typical Chow at a reasonable price should make an appointment with her owner. Her likelihood as a brood bitch alone is valuable. Her brother, MING, would have done well on the bench, but an accident to his hind leg precluded him from being exhibited. This dog would make an ideal companion, being of good temperament and most tractable. We then saw a sister of Garry's and the last of Moji's get ere he left the country. A smart, shapely Chow, very sound either end, and of charming disposition. The next was BLUE HWENDI, by Sam Woo of Wan Shi, by Blue Wangho ex Selina Dam, Loo Shing, by Mr. King. A blue-bred bitch which, when fit, carries a beautiful coat, and her shape also is typical. With her were a quartet of blue puppies, born September 29, by Garry the Guard. Each had enormous bone, perfect blue in colour, capital heads, eyes, and tiniest of ears, and to be seen are to be admired. Owing to room Mr. Edwards is prepared to dispose of them, and they offer a capital opportunity to those interested in the cult of the Chow. The kennels give excellent accommodation for visiting bitches. Mating is under the care of a well-known Chow fancier of twenty years' experience.

DECEMBER 9, 1927.

SUPPLEMENT TO "OUR DOGS."

189

Miss C. M. Baker's Celebrated "Moorwood" Chows, at Sunnyside, 58, Palace Rd., Streatham Hill, London, S.W.2

THE first shining rapture of the original enthusiasm is so apt to become dim as the span of the years go by, but although Miss Baker's Chow stud is one of the oldest in the fancy, she herself has never known the fog of lethargy, and her kennel has never fallen from the high standard which made the Moorwoods effective emphases from the very beginning. Indeed, Ch. Sinbad and all the other famous ones which have emanated from this stud only seem to have been milestones on the road to a greater goal.

But the past is history made; the present is history in the making, and one of its makers is MOORWOOD SOLLO, the glorious light-shaded red dog, by Chang of Kang Shi ex Moorwood Kalsie, and born on April 29, 1926. He has the best of the Pecknalls, and such champions as Lenning, Pickles, Pusa, and Hildewell Kwong, as well as some very valuable imported blood in his ancestry, but for all that he is predominantly Moorwood. Indelibly branded with first-rateness, this lively natured, magnificent dog has no weakness anywhere, while his strength of head, from broad skull to massiveness of muzzle, and the tiny dark eyes which have no falling-away below them, and the small, hooded ears, are the standard personified. Tail-carriage, straightness and strength of limb, feet, body, and coat fill the eye of the most critical. He is developing into a typical Moorwood; another history-maker. Such wins as 1st at Tunbridge Wells, Bromley, etc., are their own forecast.

MOORWOOD SOLLO.

Then there is such a bitch as the famous blue, SILENT MOUNT, who has done so much winning under our best judges, and who has twice won the Scanlan Memorial Brooch for the best blue. Famous again is the very cobby, deep-bodied, dark-red dog, MOORWOOD MARCO, with the black eyes and the rich colour, who has scored so many victories under the leading experts. MOORWOOD KALSIE, the red bitch, another taker of numerous red tickets, and one of the most successful brood matrons in the breed; her progeny include a great young dog by Ch. Ko Ko of Kang Shi, who will be brought out in the spring. There are also two of Sollo's sisters, and the dark, self-red, MOORWOOD MING, and last an all-promising light-shaded red girl, which will let no discord fall on the Moorwood music.

W. H.